GNOME Outreach Program for Women Internships

Why is GOPW so awesome

- ✓Inspired by Google Summer of Code
- ✓Motive - balancing the gender ratio of the community
- ✓Removes the fear of competing in a field “not meant for women” and with men who are stereotyped as “technical”.
- ✓Cleaning up the community-
http://geekfeminism.wikia.com/wiki/Category:Women_in_Open_Source
<http://live.gnome.org/CodeOfConduct>
- ✓Opening opportunities to work from home for women.

How can we create maximum awareness about it

- Email invitations to the past year participants
- Create Google groups
- Get advertisements posted on feeds and blogs outside the GNOME world but with a large technical audience
- Getting more supporters of GNOME and be open to receive support in non-monitory ways focusing on outreach and increasing mutual recognition

Time for some action?

Let's see live demonstrations of some of my branches (some are not yet merged upstream)-

- Leave/Join Chat, /part command
- /nick command works only for accounts supporting it
- Save all button in Debug Window
- Contact blocking and report abuse (which I re-based for Danielle)
- Account Manager could not be contacted - runtime error display dialog

Want to get quickly started?

<http://live.gnome.org/QuickStart>

- Find your favorite GNOME application's page on <http://live.gnome.org>
- Report bugs/ Pick up ones you want to fix from your bugzilla
- Get the source code
- Get the reference manuals for common libraries <http://library.gnome.org/devel/>
- Log in to the application's IRC channel for quick and precise assisting links

Change the world!!!
Get Known!

Thank You!
